5th European Conference on
Design4Health,
Sheffield Hallam University
Sheffield, UK
4-6th September 2018

Lab4Living at Sheffield Hallam University invites you to support the fifth European Design4Health conference.

Sponsorship Opportunities

This is your organisation's opportunity to support and participate in the 5th European Design4Health Conference..

About the conference

Established in 2011, Design4Health is a conference that brings together designers and creative practitioners with researchers, clinicians, industry, policy makers and users to discuss and test their approaches and methods. Our events provide an opportunity to explore how the disciplines of design and health are developing new ways of thinking and working, and how we might impact positively and sustainably on the social, economic and cultural factors within our communities and beyond.

The 2018 conference is hosted by Lab4Living, a trans-disciplinary research living lab within Sheffield Hallam University's Art & Design Research Centre. Established 10 years ago, Lab4Living has made a significant contribution to the emerging academic field of design and health; our work spans more than 100 research projects and collaborations with colleagues in over 80 academic, hospital and community organisations in over 15 countries.

Conference formats have included: keynotes; presentations; workshops; trade exhibits; curated exhibitions; 24hr design challenges; posters.

Full details of this year's themes are at www.design4health.org.uk

Building on success

The Design4Health story began in July 2011 with the Lab4Living team looking at new spaces in which to bring our community together, share knowledge and learn from each other. The success of the first conference in Sheffield led to further events in 2013 and 2015. As a deliberate step to grow our international audience, The Centre for Design Innovation at Swinburne University of Technology welcomed the Design4Health community to Melbourne Cricket Ground in Australia for the fourth conference in December 2017. Design4Health now returns to Sheffield in 2018.

Sponsors and financial supporters of previous conferences include: The Health Foundation; NIHR Devices for Dignity HTC; NIHR CLAHRC SY; KT-EQUAL; Yorkshire & Humber Academic Health Science Network; B Braun; Cabrini Health; Kyoto Design Lab; Creative Sheffield; Med Tech Innovations.

Each previous event has attracted approximately 130 paying delegates, from the UK (75%), EU countries, Australia, China, Brazil, Canada, USA and Hong Kong. More than 15% of delegates have been to two or more D4H conferences. Find out more at www.design4health.org.uk

Our reach

We have: 1200 named contacts in our mailing list; 320 subscribers from 26 countries on DESIGN4HEALTH@JISCMail.AC.UK mailing list; 1000+ @design4health followers; 700 @lab4living followers; selected publications in the conference's official journal, Design for Health (published by leading international academic publisher Taylor & Francis); four sets of online conference proceedings.

Sponsor packages

At the conference, you'll join a unique network of designers, researchers, clinicians, policy makers and users. Sponsoring Design4Health gives you the opportunity to raise your profile and demonstrate your commitment to innovation and best practice in design for health and wellbeing to an international audience.

Experts by experience

Given that the conference focus is very much on designing with people and the sharing of real-life experiences, participation by individuals using and delivering services and products is a key element underpinning the conference.

Therefore 10% of all sponsor income will be used to enable service users, nurses and allied health professionals to attend the conference.

As a sponsor, you may nominate individuals or we can use our networks to recruit.
